Menno van Delft

Short biography

Menno van Delft is a Dutch harpsichordist, clavichordist and teacher. In 1988, he won the clavichord prize at the C. P. E. Bach Competition in Hamburg and made his debut at the Festival Oude Muziek in Utrecht. He has given concerts and masterclasses throughout Europe, Japan and the United States and performed with the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra and the Orchestra of the Eighteenth Century.

His recordings include Bach’s six keyboard partitas on a 1784 Hoffmann clavichord and performances for the Netherlands Bach Society’s All of Bach project. He also contributed to the recording of Sweelinck’s complete keyboard works that won an Edison Award in 2003. He teaches harpsichord, clavichord and basso continuo at the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Hochschule für Musik und Theater Hamburg.
